PRESS RELEASE

Tom Miller (artist name Miller) is a recent graduate of UWE where he studied Drawing and Applied Arts. Having now finished his course, he is keen to experiment further with the way paint and other material can be applied to and experienced on a flat surface.

Interested in the organic nature of thought and its manifestations in our physical world, Miller draws influence from all aspects of experiencing life, and heavy artistic influence from lowbrow to baroque to contemporary mural painting and the Bristol graffiti scene.

Miller has created the title of the show as a way to describe his current work. In attempting to solidify fluid metaphysical imagination, he perceives this physical form would be mineral-like, and so coined the word "imaginite".

Miller first exhibited at It's All 2 Much Art Gallery in 2013 when he was in his first year at UWE. Even then, we were struck by the imaginative subject matter and quality of his work and we are delighted to invite him back for a solo show now that he has successfully completed his degree course.

Tom Miller's solo exhibition starts on Saturday 12th September with an open day and a chance to meet the artist from 1pm, and runs until Sunday 4th October at It's All 2 Much Art Gallery, 124 Cheltenham Road, Montpelier, Bristol BS6 5RW.
